Re: Can community care ease toll on hospitals

Yes community care can ease toll on hospitals. Health care strategy and planning must begin with the premise that the community is where lives are lived and where the health system must be focussed. The Ontario Home Care Association Ontario calls on the government to move quickly to make care in the home easily accessible and a service priority for all Ontarians. In so doing, the government can move away from hospital centric service to a higher yield community based system.
