

Ontario Home Care Association Applauds Nurses

May 11, 2005 The Ontario Home Care Association congratulates all nurses across the province as they celebrate Nurses' Week.

As the Association representing home care providers across the province, we pay special tribute to the contributions of home care nurses who overcome the unique challenges of weather and geography in order to help people to remain safely at home. With the constant pressures on health care, it is important to acknowledge home care nursing as critical to a cost-effective and responsive health care system. Through the home care nurse the effective interventions of the entire health team are enabled.

We hope that the celebrations of this special week allow nurses time for reflection and to renew their professional spirit and pride. On behalf of the OHCA, thank you.
